Common questions

Modifying a reservation as a Host

Life happens, and sometimes you just can't host as planned. Past reservations can't be changed, but to edit a confirmed or active one, send your guest a trip change request proposing your new dates, price, or number of guests. You can even suggest they stay in a different place, if you have more than one.

When a guest doesn't show up for a reservation

You were ready for guests, but they didn't show up. Don't worry, we'll release payout for a canceled reservation as detailed in the Cancellation Policy. If this is your first time hosting, we may hold the payout for 30 days after the reservation was confirmed. Learn more about payouts. Keep in contact It's a good idea to connect with your guests before they're due to arrive. You'll find their info in the trip itinerary. Airbnb message: Find your guests' message in your Inbox and send them a note. Message alerts are sent to their email address and as notifications in the Airbnb app Phone: Phone numbers are listed in Reservations Keep in mind that many guests don't have access to a phone while traveling, or they may experience travel delays that will affect their arrival time.

If a guest makes you uncomfortable

You set the rules for your place—it's as simple as that. If you have a guest who has broken a house rule or done something to make you feel unsafe, you don't have to take their reservation.
